

The AASW Women's Health Practice Group & RMIT Social Work invite you to a Documentary launch

Tradition in Transition: African women discuss why they have abandoned Female Genital Cutting

WHEN

Thursday 28th August 2014
6.00—830pm
screening commences 6:15pm

WHERE

RMIT University
Building 80 Level 2 on Swanston Street
Between La Trobe and Franklin Sts
Melbourne

COST

$10 (Social Workers & Health Professionals)
$5 (students)
FREE ENTRY: for communities who traditionally practise FGC.

A panel discussion will follow the screening where you can ask questions and discuss how social workers and other health and community professionals can respond respectfully when working with women affected by the practise of female circumcision.

Click Here to REGISTER

- ◆ The Women's Health Practice Group is a recognised AASW Practice Group.
- ◆ Attendance at this event counts towards CPD hours.
- ◆ Delicious refreshments will be provided.

Or go to www.aasw.asn.au
Or call 03 9320 1005

Visit www.aasw.asn.au for more information